CALL FOR PRESENTATIONS

Now in its 6th year, Rivers of Ink focuses on quality writing, submissions, the road to publication, as well as life of a published author. Special features include keynote speakers, workshops, book sales featuring books by conference presenters, a meet-and-greet reception at Bookwalter Winery and more.

The two-day conference offers eighteen workshops. ROI provides a mix of sessions on the craft of writing, publishing and genre topics. Presenters will be paid an honorarium ($105 for each 75-minute workshop). Lodging and transportation are only paid for Keynote speakers, but a stipend is available to those traveling more than 100 miles. Rivers of Ink Writers Conference is held at the Richland Public Library, Richland, WA.

Requirements: A complete package include these items:

- Completed Application
- Detailed description of presentation topic, plus a 50 word summary of the topic
- List three things people attending the presentation will learn
- Current resume, including courses you have taught and location, public speaking experience, publication credentials
- 2-3 references.

Selection Process: Applications are reviewed by the ROI Committee. Selections are based on appropriateness of content for the conference program, topic, and presenter expertise on topic. If your proposal is accepted you will be asked to provide a 50 word bio and a color photo of yourself in jpg file format. Deadline: May 31, 2014. Please email complete package to admin@riversofink.org or mail to address above.
